

DINWIDDIE COUNTY RECKLESS DRIVING LAWYER

Reckless Driving Speeding 101 mph REDUCED Case Result

Riley & Wells Attorneys-At-Law successfully defended a client from North Carolina who was accused of travelling at 101 miles per hour on Interstate 85 in Dinwiddie County VA. Our client was accused of excessive exceeding speeding on Interstate 85. A State Trooper in Dinwiddie County made the allegation. The State Trooper gathered evidence that our client was speeding at 102 mph. The posted speed limit was 70 mph on Interstate 85. The state trooper could have arrested our client.

However, the state trooper elected to release our client on a Virginia Uniform Summons. Our client was extremely concerned about a jail sentence. She also heard she might lose her driving privileges, and face a fine of $2500. We reviewed all the facts and evidence. It appeared that the state trooper's evidence was enough to support the allegation. We advised our client that a willingness to complete some tasks before the trial may help the case. Our client completed community service and a reckless driving driver improvement program. This, along with other evidence, allowed us to better position the client. On the trial date, we were able to convince the Court to enter a favorable judgment. Our client was found not guilty of reckless driving and the Judge reduced the case to a minor speeding infraction. This was due to the facts and circumstances of this case, and the arguments that we presented. Our client avoided a misdemeanor, a jail sentence and a loss of driving privileges.

Dinwiddie County VA Reckless Driving 84/70 DISMISSED

In this Dinwiddie County VA reckless driving case, our attorneys represented a client who was licensed to drive from Maryland. Our client desperately needed to have this case dismissed. We prepared various arguments and were prepared for trial when we appeared in the Dinwiddie County Traffic Court. We convinced the Judge to DISMISS the case on the trial date on the merits without a driver improvement return date. In many instances, a driver improvement may be necessary, but not here. Our client was very happy to have the matter successfully resolved.
